Dear Bennie,

I have reviewed Ossie Ritland's report on ISINGLASS you provided with your letter of 28 June. He is to be commended for a fine effort considering the limited time and information available to conduct a meaningful evaluation.

I agree with you that the identification and recommendation of specific technology proposals related to hypersonic vehicles is both timely and worthwhile. In this respect, I believe this study effort will serve to better evaluate our own basic efforts in the critical technical areas.

Sincerely,

Brockway McMillan
